

The Wind

3-Part Mixed Chorus
and Piano

by
Stella ter Hart

Poetry by Robert Louis Stevenson

The Wind

2'28"

3-part mixed chorus and piano

text by Robert Louis Stevenson

music by Stella ter Hart

Freely (♩ = c. 112)

mf

Part 1

Part 2

Piano

1.I saw you
2.I saw the

1.I saw you
2.I saw the

p

simile

P1

P2

P3

toss the kites on high.
dif - ferent things you did,

toss the kites on high.
dif - ferent things you did,

mf

and blow — the birds a -
but al - ways you your -

May the innocence of youth and its spontaneous, naive wonder be preserved, treasured, and protected always. As these poems inspired me in my childhood, may they continue to inspire future generations in both verse and song.

The Wind

11

P1

P2

P3

And all a - round I

And all a - round I

bout the sky; And all a - round I self you hid. I felt you push, I

11

mf

16

P1

P2

P3

heard you pass, like la - skirts a -
could I see your -

heard you pass, like la - dies' skirts a -
could not see your -

mp

heard you pass,
heard you call,

16

p

The Wind

21

P1

cross self the at grass. all.

p

Oo

P2

cross the self at grass. all.

mf

O wind, a - blow - ing all day

P3

p

Oo

21

mp

27

P1

O wind that sings so loud a song!

f

P2

long, O wind that sings so loud a song!

f

P3

O wind that sings so loud a song!

27

The Wind

33 2

P1
loud a song! _____

P2
loud a song! _____

P3
loud a song! _____ mf 3. You that _____ 33 f

f

39 mp

P1
blow - er, are you

P2
blow - er, are you

P3
are so strong and _____ cold, oo _____ p

39 p

p